

#20 - Dave McLlwain

Dave Allan McLlwain

Position: Center

Born January 9, 1967 in Seaforth, Ontario

Height: 6' 0" Weight: 190

Traded to Jets with Randy Cunneyworth and Rick Tabaracci by Pittsburgh Penguins for Jim Kyte, Andrew McBain and Randy Gilhen, June 17, 1989. Traded to Buffalo Sabres with Gord Donnelly, Winnipeg's 5th round choice in 1992 Entry Draft and future considerations for Darrin Shannon, Mike Hartman and Dean Kennedy, October 11, 1991.

The Jets acquired Dave McLlwain from the Pittsburgh Penguins in the summer of 1989 as part of the blockbuster deal that sent Jim Kyte and Andrew McBain to Pittsburgh. He spent two full seasons with the Jets before being traded to the Buffalo Sabres after three games of the 1991-1992 season. He bounced around with several different teams and last saw NHL action in 1996-1997 during his second tour of duty with the New York Islanders. He wound up his playing career with more than a decade in Europe, playing in both Switzerland and Germany. McLlwain was originally drafted by the Penguins in 1986 and he spent two seasons in their organization prior to being dealt to the Jets. As a Jet, he was most noted for his 1989-1990 season in which he scored a career-high 25 goals, seven of which came while the Jets were shorthanded.
